Course Projections Guide (CPG) Instructions

The Course Projections Guide was developed to assist students in degree planning by projecting what courses will be offered in upcoming terms.

Departments are responsible for maintaining their course offering projections. The following instructions will guide you through this process.

Logging In

2. Enter your Odin username and password. Note: This is the same username and password that you use to log in to your computer.

View Your Course Offerings

1. Once you have logged in, go to the Staff Planner tab to view your course offerings.
2. Select the academic year that you would like to view and then select your department.

3. Once a department is selected, all active courses for that department will be populated in the Course drop-down. From here, you can either select All Courses to see everything currently listed in the CPG or you can select a specific course.

Note: The date in parentheses next to the course is the term that the most recent curriculum change took place in Banner.
4. Click the Search button to view the results.

   + Add New Course Offering

3. Once you select Add New, you will be taken to the Add Offering page. This page displays the course credits, description and title all of which are automatically populated from Banner.
